Administrative Tort Claim: Martin Hernandez Banderas (07-0421)
SF-95 received by DHHS OGC on July 3, 2007

Conclusion:

Was the duty owed the individual (i.e., standard of care) met and, if not, who (provider and/or institution) failed to meet the duty owed?

The duty owed the individual was not met by the providers caring for the detainee. They failed to appreciate the severity and/or potential extent of the diabetic foot wounds that were not improving over an extended period of time in light of his peripheral neuropathy, poor circulation, and evidence of systemic involvement with the infection. Surgical consultation should have been sought earlier.
