

 THE CARETAKER QUARTERBACK	 SUPERSTAR QB WHO FLAMES OUT	 CLUTCH KICKER	 TWO-MINUTE DRILL MASTERS	 TEAM CHEMISTRY	 HARD-HITTING SECONDARY	 TEAM DEPTH	 PASS-RUSHING DEFENSIVE ENDS	 PASS-RUSHING LINEBACKERS	 RUN-STUFFING LINEBACKERS	 PLUS-MINUS DEFENSE	 GAME-BREAKING RUNNING BACK	 BOWLING BALL RUNNING BACK	 THE EVERYTHING BACK	 DIVA RECEIVA	 POSSESSION RECEIVER
			QB Jake Delhomme can get it done.	No dissension here.	CB Ken Lucas is as good as they come.		Julius Peppers is a beast.		Dan Morgan attacks all day.	Ranked second in league in takeaways.	DeShaun Foster is that when healthy.			Welcome Keyshawn Johnson.
			No worries with Brady.	It's always there.		Unheralded players seem to fill in well.	Richard Seymour excels in playoffs.	Just wait till Tedy Bruschi is back.	Ditto.		Could be Laurence Moroney.	Corey Dillon fits bill just fine.	Kevin Faulk can do it all.	Deion Branch, where art thou?
					Troy Polamalu « can deliver knockout hits.	It'll be tested this season with no Bettis, Randle El.		Clark Haggans, Joey Porter, etc., are fierce.	Few dare to run vs. Steel Curtain.	Tough to hang on to ball against these guys.	Remember Parker's 75-yard TD in Super Bowl?			Hines Ward isn't a diva, but he's a great receivea.	It's (Heath) Miller Time.
		Who's this new guy named Vinatieri?	Best quick-strike team around.		Bob Sanders hits much bigger than his size.		Dwight Freeney is almost unblockable.		Gary Brackett, Cato June are 1-2 punch.	Finished with plus-12 ratio last season.	Dominic Rhodes has shown flashes.			« Not a diva, but Marvin Harrison is Mr. Consistency.
	»				Marcus Trufant, Michael Boulware are sure tacklers.		Grant Wistrom and Bryce Fisher are talented.		Love that Lofa.	Ratio of plus-10 last season.	Shaun Alexander, anyone?	Shaun Alexander, anyone?	Shaun Alexander, anyone? This is getting tedious.		Bobby Engram is a true professional.
					Sean Taylor is among league's hardest hitters.		Andre Carter is an improvement.		Marcus Washington comes off a Pro Bowl.	Taylor can go the distance after interceptions.	It's Clinton Portis if healthy.	T.J. Duckett weighs 254 pounds.			Randle El and TE Chris Cooley can handle duties.
		Jason Elam is consistent.			John Lynch delivers jarring hits.	Especially in the backfield.		All three are solid.		Ratio was plus-20 last season.	Tatum Bell has shown he can be the guy. «			Javon Walker got his wish; he's out of Green Bay.
		Shayne Graham has become a force.			Defensive backfield has few weaknesses.		David Pollack is an emerging star.	Brian Simmons is underrated in the middle.				Rudi Johnson has all the tools.	Have you seen Chad Johnson's mohawk?
		Drew Bledsoe still can fling it deep, though.			« Roy Williams scares WRs.	Plenty on defense, spotty on offense.	Marcus Spears is developing.	DeMarcus Ware is a 'tweener who wreaks havoc.			Julius Jones has potential.			T.O.
						Michael Strahan is future Hall of Famer.	LaVar Arrington has both Redskins games circled.	Antonio Pierce is disciplined in the middle.				Brandon Jacobs — 264 pounds.		Plaxico once called Plexiglass.	Amani Toomer still can contribute.